Karen Humpage

Biography

Introduction

As a self-taught artist from an early age, Karen has been commissioned to paint a wide variety of subjects. In 1991, while working in office administration, an interest in cemetery conservation led her to the delights of painting monuments and mausoleums in watercolour. Since then, she has made detailed studies of this and other historical and architectural subjects, which has in turn led to commissions for house, building and memorial portraits. Karen has now been able to turn a part-time hobby into a full-time career, and works as an artist, colourist and calligrapher.

Artist Statement

For me, buildings have souls and character, and I enjoy reaching behind the façade to bring this out in my paintings. Like the lines on a person's face, the weathering of stone and wood reflects the life of the building, and is one of the most important elements in any of my portrayals.
